

Extemporaneous Public Speaking

Purpose

The Tennessee FFA Extemporaneous Public Speaking Leadership Development Event is designed to develop the ability of all FFA members to express themselves on a given subject without having prepared or rehearsed its content in advance. This event allows FFA members to formulate their remarks for presentation in a very limited time.

Event Rules

The Tennessee FFA Extemporaneous Public Speaking Leadership Development Event will be limited to one participant from each state association.

- FFA official dress is required for this event.
- Three competent and impartial persons will be selected to judge the event.
- Any participant possessing any electronic device not provided by the event committee in the preparation room is subject to disqualification.
- Each speech should result from the participant's effort using approved reference material, which the participant may bring to the preparation room. No other assistance may be provided.

Event Format

Event officials will randomly draw speaking order. The superintendent will announce each participant by name and in order of the drawing.

The selection of topics will be held 30 minutes before the event. The participants will draw three specific topics, selected randomly from the pool of 18, relating to the agriculture industry. After selecting the topic they desire to speak about, all three topics will be returned for the next drawing.

Eighteen topics will be prepared by the event superintendent and will include three each from the following categories:

- Agricultural literacy and advocacy.
- Current agricultural issues.
- Advancing agriculture through agriculture science.
- Current technology uses and applications in agriculture.
- Agri marketing and international agriculture.
- Food and fiber systems.

PREPARATION AND MATERIALS

A list of all possible topics will be given to and reviewed by the judges before the beginning of the event.

Participants will be admitted to the preparation room at 15-minute intervals and given exactly 30 minutes for topic selection and preparation.

The officials in charge of the event will screen reference material using the following guidelines:

- Must be limited to five items.

- Printed material such as books or magazines.
- Printed compilations of materials collected from internet research.
- To be counted as one item, a notebook or folder of collected materials may contain no more than 100 single-sided pages or 50 double-sided pages numbered consecutively.
- References should be in original format.
- There can be no notes or speeches prepared by the participant or by another person for the purpose of use in this event. Cutting and pasting into a Microsoft Word document will be considered prepared notes.
- Participants may have up to 10 minutes to conduct online research. Computers may be provided. Access to email, cloud storage or any prepared materials is prohibited. A room monitor will be the official timekeeper for each contestant's technology time. Using prepared notes or speeches, even if accessed with technology time, is prohibited and will be grounds for disqualification.

SPEECH

Each speech should result from the participant's effort using approved reference material, which the participant may bring to the preparation room. No other assistance may be provided. Participants must use the uniform note cards provided. Any notes for speaking must be made during the 30-minute preparation period. A participant will be permitted to use notes while speaking, but deductions in scoring may be made for this practice if it detracts from the effectiveness of the presentation.

Each speech should be at least four and at most six minutes in length. An additional five minutes will be allowed for the questioner to ask related questions. The room coordinator of the event will introduce the participant by name and state. The participant may introduce their speech by title only. Participants will be penalized one point per second on each judge's score sheet for being over six minutes or under four minutes. Time commences when the speaker begins talking. Speakers may use a watch to keep a record of their time. Event officials or observers will not give time warnings.

PRESENTATION

Timekeepers will record the time each participant spends delivering his or her speech, noting under time or over time, if any, for which deductions should be made.

At the time of the event, the judges will be seated in a designated section of the room in which the event is held. They will score each participant on the delivery of the production using the score sheet provided.

Questions will pertain directly to the speaker's subject. Questions containing two or more parts should be avoided. The full five minutes should be used. All judges will be permitted to ask questions.

When all participants have finished speaking, each judge will total the score of each participant. The timekeepers' record will be used to compute each participant's final score. The judges' score sheets will then be submitted to event officials to determine the final ratings of participants.

Scoring

Participants will be ranked numerically based on the final score determined by each judge without consultation. The judges' rankings of each participant will then be added, and the winner will be the participant whose total ranking is the lowest. Other placings will be determined similarly (using the low-rank method of selection).

TIEBREAKERS

Ties will be broken based on the greatest number of low ranks. The participants' low ranks will be counted, and the participant with the greatest number of low ranks will be declared the winner. If a tie still exists, then the event superintendent will rank the participants' responses to questions. The participant with the greatest number of low ranks from the response to questions will be declared the winner. If a tie still exists, then the participants' raw scores will be totaled. The participant with the greatest total of raw points will be declared the winner.
