TENNESSEE FFA FOUNDATION AWARDED GRANT FROM NRA FOUNDATION

COOKEVILLE, TN – The Tennessee FFA Foundation has received a grant from the NRA Foundation to integrate an archery range into the newly constructed Camp Clements rifle range, also a project made possible by the NRA Foundation. Between monetary and product awards, the estimated grant value is $2,500. As a result of this generous grant, Camp Clements will have the ability to implement archery programming into Tennessee FFA Leadership Training Camp curriculum for the first time in its history.

“The continuous support of the NRA Foundation has allowed us to make numerous improvements to the shooting sports available at Camp Clements. FFA members are able to consistently experience new activities and better facilities thanks, in large part, to the NRA Foundation,” said Phillip Baker, Tennessee FFA Foundation Board Chairman.

Camp Clements, located in Doyle, Tennessee, is the oldest FFA camp in the nation and a homesite of leadership development for nearly 28,000 FFA members across the state. Camp Clements also hosts many groups outside of Tennessee FFA for similar leadership development events.

The Tennessee FFA Foundation is based in Cookeville on the campus of Tennessee Tech University. The 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization was created in 1983 to promote the best interests of students and those involved in agricultural education and FFA. To learn more about FFA, visit www.tnffa.org.
